

The third open call for experiments runs until November 9, 2022

Calling on SMEs, start-ups, and web entrepreneurs! The EUHubs4Data project has just launched its third and final open call for experiments that will run until 9 November 2022.

Funding, expertise, and support: all of this is now available for cross-border collaborative experiments.

The project invites SMEs, start-ups and groups of web entrepreneurs to propose experiments that make use of the EUHubs4Data federated catalogue of data-driven services and datasets for the development of innovative products or advanced services.

The call runs from September 7 until November 9, 2022, and will grant funding to 18 experiments. To guide applicants through the process of the call and answer your questions, EUH4D offers two information sessions. These webinars will provide applicants detailed information on the open call, its eligibility, how to participate, and more.

Deadline for applications: 9 November 2022

Please contact opencall@euhubs4data.eu for any questions about the Open Call.

A news item with useful links is available at <https://euhubs4data.eu/news/third-call-for-experiments-opens-today>.